The Judiciary Committee's report for the reconstruction of Georgia was presented.

House.—The following bills were introduced and referred: One to amend the currency act, one to abolish the franking privilege, one to provide a free system of national banking, one to repeal the act of 1862, extending the jurisdiction of the United States District Courts to certain cases on lakes and navigable waters, and one to provide for the construction of the Nicaragua ship canal; also, a joint resolution on the subject of Virginia, in pending in the Reconstruction committee.

Mr. Butler, of Massachusetts, chairman of the Reconstruction Committee, presented the following bill, heretofore introduced by Farnsworth, also a member of the committee:

"WHEREAS, The people of Virginia have adopted a Constitution, republican in form, and have in all respects conformed to the requirements of the act of Congress entitled 'An act authorizing the admission of the States of Virginia, Mississippi and Texas to a vote of the people, and authorizing the election of Representatives and Senators to the Congress of the United States, approved the 10th of April, 1869';

Resolved, That said State of Virginia is entitled to representation in the Congress of the United States."

The following is proposed as a substitute by Payne, of the Reconstruction committee:

"WHEREAS, The people of Virginia have adopted a Constitution, republican in form, and have in all respects conformed to the requirements of the act of Congress entitled 'An act authorizing the admission of the States of Virginia, Mississippi and Texas to a vote of the people, and authorizing the election of Representatives and Senators to the Congress of the United States, approved the 10th of April, 1869';

Resolved, That said State of Virginia is entitled to representation in the Congress of the United States."

Mr. Butler introduced the following:

"WHEREAS, The people of Virginia have adopted a Constitution, republican in form, and have in all respects conformed to the requirements of the act of Congress entitled 'An act authorizing the admission of the States of Virginia, Mississippi and Texas to a vote of the people, and authorizing the election of Representatives and Senators to the Congress of the United States, approved the 10th of April, 1869';

Resolved, That said State of Virginia is entitled to representation in the Congress of the United States."

Mr. Butler introduced the following:

"WHEREAS, The people of Virginia have adopted a Constitution, republican in form, and have in all respects conformed to the requirements of the act of Congress entitled 'An act authorizing the admission of the States of Virginia, Mississippi and Texas to a vote of the people, and authorizing the election of Representatives and Senators to the Congress of the United States, approved the 10th of April, 1869';

Resolved, That said State of Virginia is entitled to representation in the Congress of the United States."

Mr. Butler introduced the following:

"WHEREAS, The people of Virginia have adopted a Constitution, republican in form, and have in all respects conformed to the requirements of the act of Congress entitled 'An act authorizing the admission of the States of Virginia, Mississippi and Texas to a vote of the people, and authorizing the election of Representatives and Senators to the Congress of the United States, approved the 10th of April, 1869';

Resolved, That said State of Virginia is entitled to representation in the Congress of the United States."

Mr. Butler introduced the following:

"WHEREAS, The people of Virginia have adopted a Constitution, republican in form, and have in all respects conformed to the requirements of the act of Congress entitled 'An act authorizing the admission of the States of Virginia, Mississippi and Texas to a vote of the people, and authorizing the election of Representatives and Senators to the Congress of the United States, approved the 10th of April, 1869';

Resolved, That said State of Virginia is entitled to representation in the Congress of the United States."

States to the holders thereof. The resolution went over.

Mr. Wood offered a resolution declaring that the laws giving exclusive privileges or enjoyments to particular classes or professions are unequal, unjust and in violation of the Constitution, and that a protective tariff is necessary for the purpose of legislation.

The bill went over.

Mr. Davis' strict neutrality resolution, introduced by Mr. Cox, after a discussion, was offered again, and went over.

Mr. Cox offered a resolution declaring as a question from the President's message, that among the evils growing out of the late civil war, that of an irredeemable currency, and that it is one of the highest duties of the Government to secure to the citizens a medium of exchange of equal and unvarying value, which implies a return to a specie basis, that no substitute for it can be devised, and that it should be commenced now and reached at the earliest possible moment; which went over.

Mr. Seiberick offered a resolution, which was adopted, authorizing the Banking Committee to investigate all causes which led to the extraordinary gold fluctuations in New York, in September, and to report early.

Mr. Paine offered a resolution that the retrocession of the county of Alexander to Virginia being unconstitutional, is void, and that Rives McKenzie, claiming a seat from that district, is ineligible to the Senate.

A resolution was offered and referred, instructing the Secretary of the Navy to appoint a committee to inquire into the cases where naval officers have been ignored in advancement to rank.

Mr. Cox offered a resolution instructing the Ways and Means Committee to report a bill repealing the unjust and burdensome tariff.
